From Wikipedia: Hans Augusto Rey (1898-1977) was an illustrator and writer, known best for the Curious George series of children's picture books that he and his wife Margret Rey created from 1939 to 1966. Hans and Margret's fathers were German Jews. Marrying in 1935 in Brazil, the Reys escaped Europe carrying the manuscript to the first Curious George book, which they then published in New York by Houghton Mifflin in 1941. Hans and Margret originally planned to use watercolor illustrations, but since they were responsible for the color separation, he changed these to cartoon-like images. At first covers omitted Margret's name. In later editions this was changed, and Margret now receives full credit for her role in developing the stories.
